COMMUNITY INTRODUCTION

Characteristics Are Hard to Beat

“What a wonderful place to relax. I can happily and productively live here my entire life.”

“From birth through the golden years, Hastings has something for everyone.”

These are but a few remarks made by those recent visitors and new residents of Hastings who know a good thing when they see it.

Our state-of-the-art hospital has the latest technology for safe deliveries and the care of newborns. The best in educational opportunities are provided in Hastings — from the small classrooms of our elementary schools to the envious graduation rates of our high schools to the higher education available at Hastings College and Central Community College, and you don't have to travel away from home to earn your fortune.

On the business front, our industrial park extends state-of-the-art facilities to assist budding businesses, and to ensure our established owners continue to compete in a global market.

You can even age gracefully in Hastings, taking advantage of volunteer and social opportunities and of the services that are available to assist you in your golden years. We're proud of the churches that dot our landscape and, more importantly, the strong sense of caring and community they promote.

We have an appreciation of the gifts from Mother Nature that surround us. We're surrounded by excellent fishing and hunting opportunities, perfect park land and plenty of natural flowing water, and we are committed to using the land without abusing its beauty.

Our citizens have a keen sense of culture. We support our community theater, community symphony, library and museum and our social calendar is packed with festivals. A wide variety of service and social organizations are also active in the community.

We're the birthplace of Kool-Aid — need we say more to bring a smile to your face?

Welcome to Hastings, where we take pride in our background and accomplishments, but most of all, in our people.

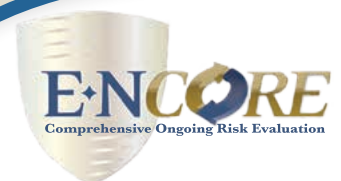

As you try to navigate all of the risks that exist in your personal life or your business, we have best-in-class risk advisors to help you build strategies to achive your goals and protect what is most important to you.

HISTORY

Discover The City's Best

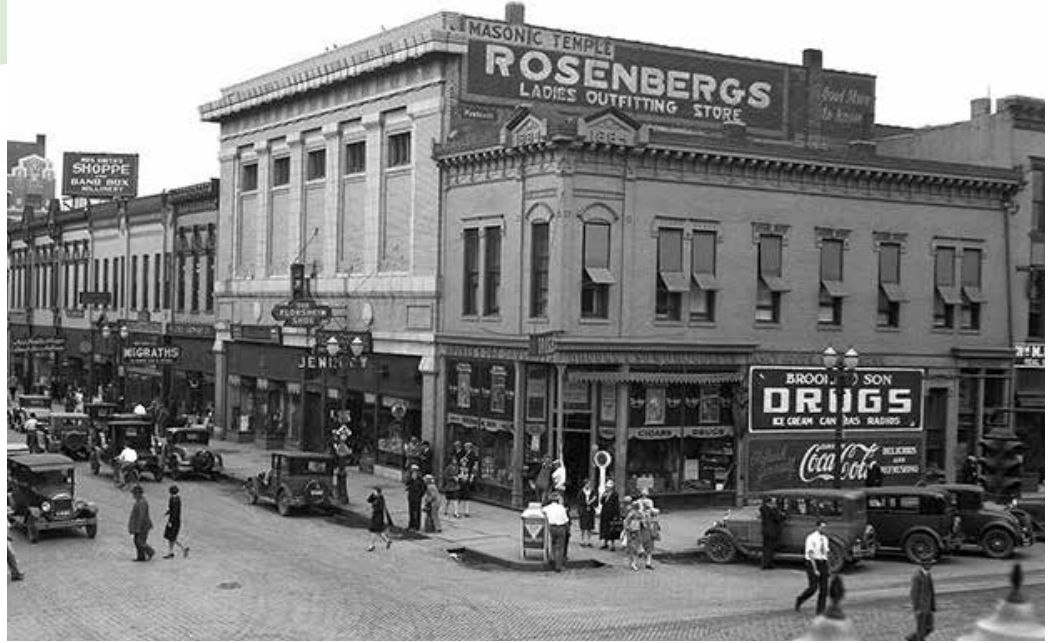

As you drive around Hastings and stroll down the streets and avenues of our residential and commercial historic districts, you will see buildings, homes, and sites that tell the stories of Hastings's rich and colorful past.

At the Hastings Museum, you'll find the outdoor train display with a portion of track taken from the point where two railroads intersected. Hastings was founded in 1872, on a treeless prairie, at the intersection of the Burlington and St. Joseph and Denver City railroads. It was named after the construction engineer for the St. Joseph and Denver City Railroad, Thomas D. Hastings.

Go inside the museum and you'll find an exhibit assembled from portions of an 1878 home that belonged to the "First Citizen of Hastings," Samuel Alexander, a Civil War veteran who, with his wife Harriet, came to Hastings in 1872.

Farther south at 7th Street and Lincoln Avenue you'll come to Alexander Square, which was created in 1936 commemorating the Alexanders and their contributions to Hastings. This is the site where their home sat, marking their 160-acre homestead that Alexander used in 1878 to create the first northern addition to Hastings during the Boom Town Period (1870-1880).

Today this park serves as the symbol and gateway of the Central Hastings Historic District (CHHD). Listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 2003, due to its excellent ability to physically document the three periods of major growth in Hastings from (1880-1950): the Victorian Period (1880-1890), the Arts and Crafts Period (1900-1930) and the Modern Period (1940-1950). Hastings's second National Register Historic District, Heartwell Park, also documents the three periods of growth within the 1886 park that includes a lake surrounded by residences. Around town you'll see the buildings, sites and homes that physically document stories from these three periods.

While at Brickyard Park you'll see the remains of Hastings' brickmaking industry. This industry lasted for 60 years beginning in 1880 following the "Great Fire of 1879," which brought the Boom Town Period to an end with 33 wooden commercial buildings lost. With four brickyards, Hastings at one time produced 70 percent of all brick made in Nebraska and 100 percent of the paving brick in the state.

Today you will see buildings designed by Hastings's Victorian architect Charles Rittenhouse following the 1879 fire — the 1880s stone Farrell Block, which served as the Adams County Courthouse after Hastings won a five-year "County Seat War" with Juniata in 1878; the 1883 Nebraska Loan and Trust; the 1884 Frahm/Brooke Building; and McCormick Hall, the first building erected in 1882 for Hastings College.

Stroll down the avenues of the CHHD and you'll see the Victorian houses that were the childhood homes of Rollin Kirby, who in 1922 became the first person ever to win the Pulitzer Prize for political cartoons, and Will Clarke, who became the cover illustrator for American Boy magazine, which later became Boys' Life. Clarke also designed the 1911 logo for the Hastings College Broncos. Former UNL head football coach and U.S. Congressman Tom Osborne served as a star quarterback for the Broncos in the 1950s.

Throughout the historic districts and downtown, you'll see buildings and homes from the Arts and Crafts Period when Hastings was known as the Queen City of the Plains, Cigar Capital of Nebraska, brewed Prairie Pride Beer and produced one of America's most loved drinks, Kool-Aid, which was invented in 1927 by Hastings resident Edwin Perkins. Scattered throughout Hastings you'll see buildings designed by the leading local Arts and Crafts architect C. W. Way — the 1919 Dutton-Lainson Victory Building and the 1914 Clarke Hotel, which operates today as The Kensington, an assisted living facility for seniors.

At the intersection of Denver Avenue and 12th Street, take in the breathtaking beauty of the 1932 Fisher Rainbow Fountain constructed during the Great Depression of the 1930s.

Today, the city of Hastings is utilizing its historic downtown buildings to create a unique shopping and dining environment while developing the upper levels of these buildings for living spaces. The city has also undertaken successful adaptive reuse projects such as the police department, which is now headquartered in the historic Lincoln School.

The Adams County Historical Society serves to "Teach with our Treasures" through a comprehensive tour booklet, films for school and public use historic markers, publications, Power Point presentations and a website (www.adamshistory.org) that includes a virtual tour of historic sites in Hastings.

Fisher Fountain

Fisher Fountain was originally a temporary exhibit at the 1932 Adams County Fair, called the Electric Fountain. It was invented by Edward R. Howard and became a symbol of hope during the Great Depression and Dust Bowl. Because of its popularity, it was moved to the park and made a permanent feature. A competition among schoolchildren to rename it resulted in two winning names that were combined: Rainbow Fountain, and Fisher Fountain after Mayor Jacob Fisher.

Fisher Fountain was renovated in 1982 but was then dynamited by vandals in 1984. Its destruction aroused a strong community response. Residents raised $63,000 to rebuild the fountain, and it was rededicated on Mother's Day in 1985. Renovations to address mechanical failures and improve accessibility to the water pump and other electrical equipment were approved by the Hastings City Council in January of 2021.

Following these improvements, Fisher Fountain was placed back to operation in all of its splendor and glory in July of 2021.

Igloo-shaped, earth-covered bunkers stand dormant along U.S. Highway 6 just a short drive east of Hastings. Rich in historical significance, these bunkers protected ammunition produced here during World War II. The Naval Ammunition Depot known locally as "The NAD," was the largest of four ammunitions depots in the country and was known for supplying 40 percent of the Navy's ammunition supply at one point during WWII. A local NAD historian is available for step-on tours and presentations for a fee. Interpretive materials, such as self-guided tour/historical brochures and DVDs, are also available. For more information, call the Adams County Convention and Visitors Bureau at (402) 461-2370.

REAL ESTATE

A Place You Can Call Home

As we navigated our way back into an uncertain post COVID world, we found ourselves in some uncharted territory. As interest rates dropped to an all-time low, the Hastings housing market exploded.

Home prices jumped and were selling as fast as they hit the market, which created a lot of interest and competition. People up-graded, down-sized and bought up rental properties and project homes. Now, as interest rates increase, we "Stay Calm and Carry On". The style of home and price ranges varies as much as our diverse population.

Whether you prefer an existing ranch style, multi-level, townhouse/condo, or a custom-built home, you'll find it. Home ownership is within most people's reach; we are fortunate to live in a community of affordable housing which makes buying a home a great investment. People appreciate the benefits of living in a good solid community. "The neighborhoods in Hastings are safe and family oriented. Schools are conveniently located, and most neighborhoods are fortunate enough to have one of our many city parks nearby", said Sherri Patterson of the Real Estate Group. People appreciate living in a safe environment without the hassles of a lot of traffic or high crime rates.

With a focus on education and a great school system, people choose to live in Hastings because of the relaxed, wholesome quality of life.

EDUCATION

Strong Academics Give Students Bright Futures

Hastings's residents are committed to quality education and opportunities for students, as they are aware that tomorrow's labor force is found in today's student.

The Educational Service Unit #9

The Educational Service Unit #9 serves nearly 10,000 students and 800 teachers who attend 14 school districts in five and one-third central Nebraska Counties. These central Nebraska counties include Adams, Clay, Hamilton, Nuckolls, Webster and the southern one-third of Hall County.

Educational Service Unit 9 provides a variety of special education services by contract to local districts. Area schools also receive assistance with quality improvement (accreditation), preschool education, professional development, technology infrastructure, instructional technology, and media services.

ESU 9 is accredited by the Nebraska Department of Education.

Adams Central Public Schools

With a rich educational tradition, strong student experiences and a highly qualified professional teaching staff, Adams Central Public Schools serves nearly 1,000 students in preschool through grade 12. The district, which encompasses approximately 300 square miles surrounding Hastings, celebrated 55 successful years in 2018.

The Nebraska Department of Education rates Adams Central as a "Great" school district, based on academic achievement and overall student experience. Students in grades 7-12 can pursue a variety of academic interests, including those in the arts, sciences, humanities and technologies at Adams Central Junior/Senior High. The high school also offers a number of honors programs and courses for college credit, preparing students for life after graduation. Ninety-four percent of our graduates attend college.

Along with its strong academic tradition, Adams Central's variety of extracurricular activities in the areas of academics, athletics, arts, technology and leadership provide a place for all students to find a home and stay connected with peers and their personal education experience.

Adams Central Elementary is the newest building in the district, opening in 2018 and serving all K-6 students. The staff provides a respectful, responsible and safe environment which promotes high levels of student engagement and performance. The new building is located across the street from the junior/senior high school, creating a comfortable campus for families.

Adams Central Early Learning Center, located in Juniata, provides both half-day and full-day preschool for qualifying students ages 3-5. All classes are inclusive, providing active learning, positive interactions and daily routines to help each child individually to support and ensure all are ready for kindergarten. Students in the Adams Central district are served by eighty-five certified staff members, sixty-two support staff members and six administrators. In the classroom, the student-to-teacher ratio is an impressive thirteen-to-one. The average years of teaching experience in the district is seventeen, and sixty-six percent of teachers hold a master's degree.

Adams Central Public Schools maintains a continual process of school improvement. Teachers, administrators, school board members, parents and community members are involved in a process to directly impact the quality of the school district. Adams Central Public Schools has attained K-12 accreditation by the Nebraska Department of Education.

Hastings Public Schools

The Hastings Public School District serves a significant majority of the students within the city limits of Hastings. The district has five elementary schools (Alcott, Hawthorne, Lincoln, Longfellow and Watson), one middle school (grades 6-8) and one high school (grades 9-12). The 2022-23 school year is the first year that the Morton Early Learning Center has been open for pre-K programming on the first floor while the second floor houses the district offices.

The district has an enrollment of 3,600-plus pre-K through 12th-grade students. Given its size, the district is able to provide students with the programming and services of a large school while maintaining the caring and safe environment of a small school. HPS offers a solid academic program that prepares students for further study at the post-secondary level and/or for the world of work. The school provides a comprehensive curriculum that includes offerings in the fine arts, skills and technical sciences, world languages and a range of career pathways.

In addition, the school offers extensive student support services. A broad extracurricular program is also available to provide all students with a means to express their special talents and to learn important lessons for life.

Hastings Senior High is one of a few schools in Nebraska that have been accredited for over 100 years. The entire district is accredited by AdvancED, the largest accreditation association in the world.

Central COMMUNITY COLLEGE
 Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Institution

Zion Classical Academy

Zion Classical Academy is Hastings' first classical Christian school, serving students of all faiths from preschool to 6th grade. They are a school that exists to raise up loving, serving, thinking children and young adults through a quality liberal arts education.

They teach students to think of themselves as disciples, each equipped with unique gifts. As they discover these talents, they encourage students to see themselves as more than just another future member of the workforce. Rather, they are individuals who are "fearfully and wonderfully made" by God to live well and virtuously, no matter their profession or pursuits in life.

They believe that academic excellence is a byproduct of proper character education. Their students learn in a challenging and joyful environment surrounded by Christian teachers who understand this important mission.

At Zion Classical Academy, they believe that parents are the first teachers of their children and they work with them to instill Christian ideals and principles. Their teachers are assistants to (and not substitutes for) the child's parent. They are committed to providing a safe environment where their students can grow in the knowledge of the Lord and respond by sharing Christ's love with others. Their teachers begin each school day with staff devotions, where they regularly pray for their students and their families. Every day at Zion Classical Academy begins with their Opening Ceremony, which was inspired by their ongoing collaboration with Hillsdale College and Academy.

Each morning, the entire student body gathers to recite the Pledges of Allegiance to the American and Christian flags, listen to student recitations, and pray the Lord's Prayer together. Classical schools use children's God-given strengths at each stage of growth to help them learn (the Trivium):

Grammar: Lower elementary years. Fundamentals are emphasized through memorization. Logic: Upper elementary and middle school years. Students analyze knowledge through critical thinking.

Rhetoric: Late middle school and high school years. Students build upon data and reasoning to express themselves eloquently and persuasively.

Their curriculum includes:

Memorization of Bible Verses; Phonics-Based Reading Curriculum; The Great Books; Traditional Math and English Composition; Christian-Based Science Curriculum; History as a Coherent Story; Music, Art, and P.E. Classes; Cursive Handwriting; Latin & Logic Classes.

Zion Classical Academy is a Recognized Service Organization (RSO) of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod (LCMS) and they are National Lutheran Schools-Accredited. Our Articles of Incorporation were filed with the State of Nebraska in January of 2020.

Zion: The dwelling place of God in the Bible, and also honor's their school's roots. Classical: The model of education that their school officially adopted in the fall of 2019. Academy: Refers to their high standards of educational excellence.

INDUSTRY

Manufacturing, Production, Construction

Nebraska is a right-to-work state, offering a number of distinct advantages for business and industry to prosper. Nowhere are these advantages more evident than in Hastings: a central location, excellent transportation infrastructure, extremely low electric rates, a proven superior work ethic and unmatched educational opportunities through Hastings College and Central Community College make Hastings the perfect solution for many businesses. Industrial assets and opportunities abound in Hastings. Activity surrounding the agricultural industry has flourished. More than half of Nebraska's 25 ethanol plants are within a two-hour drive time of Hastings.

Locally, Hastings is home to Nebraska's first commercial grade ethanol plant, Chief Ethanol Fuels. Ag Processing, Inc. has completed a 70 percent expansion of its soybean crush operation, which now processes up to 55 million bushels of soybeans on an annual basis. Hastings is also home to Cooperative Producers Inc., the largest grain warehousing operation in the state of Nebraska and to T-L Irrigation, one of the largest center pivot irrigation manufacturers in the world.

In 2022, a joint venture between Cargill and Love's Travel Stops called Heartwell Renewables announced the investment of $600 Million in a renewable bio-diesel production facility that intends to parlay Nebraska's strong agriculture industry with great affordable public power. This is one of the first and largest ever private investment into this type of facility in the world and it is right here in Hastings, Nebraska.

In 1976, the Hastings Economic Development Corporation began development of Hastings Industrial Park West. Strategically positioned at the crossroads of U.S. Highways 6, 34 and 281, Park West provides a favorable logistical location for its tenants. Today, Park West is home to 14 manufacturing and related businesses, employing over 1,000 people. Most recently, Industrial Park West welcomed Flanders Provision Co. All lots are currently occupied. However, 179 acres are available adjacent to the park with excellent highway and rail access.

In 1995, HEDC began development of Hastings Industrial Park North. Located just off of U.S. Hwy 281, Park North provides great access to U.S. Interstate 80, just 15 miles north of Hastings. Highway 6 is now directly accessible from Park North as well due to a recent expansion. In total, Industrial Park North is home to 15 businesses with more than 25 acres of property still available for new or expanding businesses.

Hastings Utilities, an active partner in economic development, provides comprehensive utility service to both industrial parks and the city of Hastings with some of the lowest cost utility rates in the nation. Over the last decade, Hastings Utilities has made significant investments into generation and delivery of all services. These investments have positioned Hastings Utilities and HEDC to continue to serve new and existing industry now and into the future.

BUSINESS

Driving the Economy

Hastings provides a solid economic base where business and industry of every size and scope have a great chance to start, expand and thrive. With two quality colleges in town — Hastings College and Central Community College — Hastings enjoys a talented and highly educated workforce. The size of the city enables workers to become involved in committees and organizations that can have a direct and noticeable impact upon quality of life for everyone.

Community leaders, and organizations like the Hastings Area Chamber of Commerce, Hastings Economic Development Corporation, Downtown Center Association, Business Improvement District, Community Redevelopment Authority and the Adams County Convention and Visitors Bureau are actively involved in creating the best possible environment for business and industry. The city features three developed industrial parks, a $650 million dollar powerplant and a multi-million dollar incentive program through Hastings Utilities to foster economic development projects. Ongoing efforts also ensure adequate housing is available for workers, as well.

Although Hastings and Adams County have primarily an agricultural base, Hastings boasts one of the strongest manufacturing sectors found in any county in the state of Nebraska. Manufacturing is the very heart of the Hastings economy, accounting for approximately 18.5 percent of private industry employment and more than 22 percent of private industry wages. However, the key to any successful economy is diversification. Hastings has a thriving medical community, a strong business sector and an educational base that is unparalleled in communities of similar size.

Since 1882, Hastings has been the home of Hastings College, a private, four-year, liberal arts institution enrolling more than 1,200 students. There is no finer place than Hastings to raise a family, build a business or further your education. Many of the best and brightest students from area high schools choose to attend Hastings College, and many of our alumni remain in Hastings after they graduate. Local alumni include physicians, teachers, accountants, business managers and other professionals. Central Community College provides many local/regional businesses with a pipeline to continual, customizable training. CCC also has developed courses tailored to meet the specific needs of local businesses and industries and has offered training on campus or in the workplace. Central Community College is proud of the fact that 85% of its graduates stay in the 25-county service area and 100% who were employed full-time remain in Nebraska. Over the years, a trained and educated workforce has proven to be a cornerstone of success for companies in Hastings.

The Hastings Surgical Center specializes in surgical procedures where patients receive surgical care and return home without an overnight stay. A variety of surgical procedures are performed at the center. State and federal regulations require ambulatory surgery centers to be held to similar quality and safety as hospitals, so the Hastings Surgical Center provides quality medical care and uses the latest techniques for a safe and convenient environment. The reimbursement methods are usually significantly less than any patient would experience in a hospital setting, resulting in cost savings for the patients on their out-of-pocket expenses.

Focused on community care

"The name Mary Lanning Healthcare indicates that we are more than just a hospital. We are, in fact, focused on the healthcare of this community. And it's about providing a little bit more of a family touch, and a little bit more 'care' inside of that healthcare component.

It's important that the Hastings community understands that Mary Lanning is a not-for-profit organization. That means the decisions that govern our organization are made locally."

— Eric Barber, MLH President & CEO

GOVERNMENT

The City of Hastings

www.cityofhastings.org

Founded in 1872, Hastings is a lively and progressive city located in the agricultural heartland of south-central Nebraska. The 25,000-plus citizens of Hastings are the driving force behind the activities. Its citizens support a full-time Fire and Rescue Department, as well as a public library and museum that work year-round to offer new opportunities for learning and engagement. The city's Parks and Recreation Department supports physical activity for all ages, and works tirelessly each year to organize community events like the Fourth of July Concert and Fireworks Show. The city also owns the Hastings Municipal Airport, located in the northwest section of the city offering services including aircraft maintenance, rental and flight instruction. The airport has two lighted runways and provides fuel, hangar rental, pilot supplies and courtesy cars for pilots and passengers. The city operates under a mayor/city administrator government with many boards, both appointed and volunteer.

Hastings Utilities

www.cityofhastings.org/departments/utilities

Hastings Utilities is a municipally-owned service, providing electric, natural gas, sanitary sewer and water to the city and surrounding area. The Utilities Department offers competitive rates with reliable service, while always striving to improve the customer's experience. Crews work around the clock — rain or shine — to restore services during outages while providing caring customer service. The department also offers several rebate and incentive programs to help residents live a more sustainable and green life, while ensuring the quality of our groundwater for generations to come. Hastings is also home to a community solar farm, where residents can purchase solar shares or even entire solar panels to offset their use of electricity with a more sustainable option.

Fire Department

The Hastings Fire and Rescue Department is an ISO Class 2 Fire Department serving residents since 1878. The department operates from two fire stations, Highland Park Station at 1313 N. Hastings Ave. and Lincoln Park Station at 1145 S. Hastings Ave. The department employs 30 firefighters and officers who are divided into three 24-hour shifts supplemented by five admin staff and up to eight part-time firefighters. Hastings firefighters all have the required basic certifications and most have specialized training in a variety of areas. The Hastings Fire Department also serves as a regional hazardous materials response team for the state of Nebraska, and provides advanced life support care and emergency transport to all of Adams County.

Hastings Police Department

www.cityofhastings.org/police

The vision of the Hastings Police Department is to provide our community with excellent police services and the mission is to serve and protect the community with integrity.

The police station is in an historic 100-year-old building (built in 1917), the former Lincoln School and St. Michael's School. Renovated in 2000, the 42,000-square-foot building houses the police department, 911 center and a Nebraska State Patrol field office. The building also hosts other law enforcement agency functions.

The police department consists of two divisions — Operations Division and Administrative Division. The Operations Division consists of patrol, a detective bureau, a drug task force and code enforcement. Within the division, there are 42 certified sworn officers, three community service officers, one evidence technician and one administrative assistant. The Operations Division is the most visible and provides many services to our community.

The department participates in the City-County Drug Task Force, the nine-county Compact to Arrest Narcotics and Drug Offenders (CANDO), the FBI Tri-Cities Drug Enforcement Team (TRIDENT), and South-Central Alliance of Law Enforcement Services (SCALES).

The Administrative Division consists of the 911 center, records, evidence/property, purchasing, training, hiring, fleet management and building maintenance. There are two certified sworn officers, one director of communications, 12 dispatchers, and two administrative assistants. The E-911 Center receives emergency calls within all of Adams County and services the Hastings Police Department, Hastings Fire and Rescue, rural fire departments and emergency management.
